Do Now:

• What was one time you learned a major lesson that you will never forget? (Two Sentences)
Behavioral Learning

Write Everything in Purple
Behavioral Learning Theory

• Comes from Behaviorist Psychological Approach
• States that nearly everything you learn comes from either classical or operant conditioning
• This does include environmental factors however.
A bit of Philosophy

• The argument also states that a person is born as a “tabula rasa”
  • A “blank slate”

• Meaning that everything you are comes from your experiences

• Everything you will ever be is merely the sum of those experiences and the lessons learned from them

• Humans lean by reacting to what happens to them
Behaviorism

- Discounts internal thoughts and emotions
- Argues that it is the reaction that matters
- The internal thoughts and emotions are reactions to external events and not the cause of them
Well, now are we better?

- Behavioral Learning states that learning between humans and animals is basically the same.
- We are little more than the sum of our parts, as states yesterday.
- Everything is stimulus based.
Do you believe that there are severe limitations to this way of thinking? (Two or more sentences)